

Thematic Response – Warrior of the Egyptian Kingdom

“No man is an island” is a quote from the seventeenth century poet and cleric John Donne. His point is that we are all part of one another. This same perspective is what sends Princess Kandake to Egypt in Warrior of the Egyptian Kingdom.

The theme here is that we carry a responsibility to those who live around us. Life requires we have a strong sense of justice within each of us and help maintain that justice in the world we live in. The kingdom of Egypt, Nubia’s neighbor and ally, has a serious problem and has enlisted the aid of King Amani of Nubia. He sends Kandake to investigate.

How was Kandake’s sense of justice expressed in her words and attitudes? In what way did she follow through on her beliefs with her actions?

What are the things you believe strongly in? How do they shine through in your attitude, words, and actions?
